

ParkHere develops, produces and distributes innovative IoT-Parking solutions. We are looking for new talents to support our team as working student at our Munich location as

Working student Data Science (m/w/d)

You are creative and self-driven? You want to work in a young and professional team? Then you should apply now!

Your tasks:

- Improve our algorithms for parking spot detection based on our sensor data
- Work on the complete data science pipeline and real data
- Develop new algorithms based on your ideas

We offer:

- Nice and easy working-atmosphere in one of munich ´s fastest growing startups
- Lots of room for creativity new ideas and testing new technology
- Learning and personal development driven by our Senior Developers
- Monthly fun events like Go-Kart, sledging, lasertag (“Funthly”)
- A good pay

Your profile:

- You are studying Mathematics in Data Science, Data Engineering and Analytics or Computer Science
- You want to put your learned data science skills into practice
- You like to solve problems and directly contribute to the success of ParkHere
- You have experience with Python and its ecosystem (Numpy, Pandas, Scikit-learn, Matplotlib, etc.)

Save the time on formal motivation letters.

Just send us your resume and tell us personally about your most exciting projects.

Write us
jakob.sturm@park-here.eu

